Computers are entering the judiciary, being used for selection of jury panels, venire lists, storing case loads and myriads of data over-loaded federal and state courts process.

A chance summons to jury duty, written by a California judge, to himself, points up concern the judiciary has for computers in the judicial process. Even in jest.

Judge Charles A. Loring, presiding judge of the Los Angeles Superior Court, got a form letter he had signed summoning himself for jury duty.

Judges don't serve on juries, naturally, unless some peculiar circumstance might arise. Judge Loring knew this and upon reading his own summons, he wrote another letter to himself:

A wire report quotes: "I called this section to your attention the other day (a section of the California Constitution exempting judges from juries), but apparently you have a very short memory," the Judge wrote himself. Permit me to advise you that if you don't get on the ball, you can be replaced by a machine."

Governor Smith acknowledged the advantage of a national welfare system last week in proposing that Texas welfare programs be financed for 10 more months, then be absorbed by federal programs. A number of experts see welfare one of the workable federal programs in the future.

It will be interesting to see what the Legislature does with the Governor's proposal for bonds to meet some $600 millions for new biennial taxes. Some say it would lead to annual sessions.

REMEMBER Willie, the English racing worm? Alas, the latest news from Brighton, England, is that Willie is no more. His place in Sunday's annual worm grand prix was taken by Wippie Willie Mark II.

Reports from Brighton said the original Willie was scratched from the race last week after his owner, Christopher Hudson, accidentally stepped on him.

An Assocated Press news story said the new Willie was clocked in time trials across a two-foot plate glass course in 1 minute, 45 seconds -- 30 seconds faster than his deceased stablemate's record.

How do spectators watch a worm race? With baited breath, of course.

Murder Trial Postponed

HEARNE

A five and one-half month continuance in the murder trial of Charles V. Harrelson, accused of murder in the 1968 death of Sam Degelia Jr. of Hearne, was granted by District Judge J. R. Alamia of Edinburg. The motion for continuance was based on the fact that one of the defendants attorneys is a state representative and under Texas law this entitles postponement of a trial until 30 days after the Legislature adjourns. In a trial at Edinburg last year Pete Thomas Scamardo of Hearne was convicted as an accomplice in the Degelia murder and assessed a seven-year probated prison term. Scamardo, a business partner of Degelia, was accused of offering Harrelson $2,000 to kill Degelia in order to collect a life insurance policy taken out by the partners.

NEW APARTMENT building under construction on North Cleveland Street is a hopeful sign in the face of Cameron's current housing shortage. The "U" shaped, one story complex will have six apartments.

Planners Cite City's Shortage Of Housing

A study of Cameron by South/West Planning Associates shows that the city has available industrial and residential land to house a population increase of more than 30,000, but inadequate financing for building, substandard housing and outdated neighborhood planning will have to be faced first.

The study, commissioned by the Cameron City Council, is a three part report covering land and people, community facilities and housing.

In the first report on land an people, planners found the amount of "dilapidated development significant", indicating more financing is needed for business and home construction and repair.

They said that the central location with respect to the four major cities of Texas indicates potential for a promising industrial future for the city, and project a need for 1,300 more dwelling units by 1990.

The study listed 2,210 developable acres for residential use in the Cameron area. Much of this property is now in vacant lots in established neighborhoods. They suggest a trend from the "4 lots per block with intersecting streets" planning to multi-lot subdivisions such as the one in Culpepper addition.

Most of the Cameron residential area has less than 5 persons per acre, according to the study. Average in growth areas, where subdivision planning has been used, is 12 to 15 persons per acre in single family unit homes.

Most striking change reported in the study is the reduction of Cameron families living on incomes below the "poverty line" of $3,000 per year. Families in this category comprise an estimated 22.9 percent of the city population. In 1960 this income group made up 43.3 percent of the population.

Estimated family income in 1970 showed: $3,000 to $7,000, 23.8 percent; $5,000 to $8,000, 24 percent; $8,000 to $10,000, 13.8 percent; $10,000 and above, 15.5 percent.

The study also showed the median age in Milam County at 34.3 years, well above that of the central Texas area which is 27.0 years. The report said this had been caused by a "migration out" of young job seekers and a "migration-in" of older farm people.

A section of the city labor force showed that Cameron is high by state comparisons in number employed in business and professional 28 percent in Cameron compared to a state average of 14 percent, about average in service fields, finance, insurance and real estate; and low in number employed in public administration.

The study estimated that 8.6 percent of the labor force is employed only part-time (or underemployed) and 3.9 percent is unemployed.

They suggest the city would benefit by becoming a processing and distribution center for farm products.

Dry Weather Continues To Plague Area

Mothers March Monday

Cameron mothers will be ringing doorbells Monday (today) for the annual Mothers March of Dimes. Mrs. Bobby Stanislaw is chairman for this year's March.

Team captains who have organized neighborhood workers to help in the annual drive are:

Mrs. Clara Richardson, Mrs. Glenda Moseley, Mrs. G. W. Barr, Mrs. Kay Smith, Mrs. Sharon Hobbs, Mrs. Joe Lee Humplik, Mrs. Pat Barrett, Mrs. Shirley Kelm, Mrs. Walter Anderle, and Mrs. David Krenek.

Mrs. Stanislaw said the mothers will make their calls in the afternoon and evening, between 2 and 8 p.m. Residents are asked to leave their porch lights on during the drive.

A portion of funds collected in the MOD drive is retained in Milam County to help children with birth defects. The funds are used to furnish medicines, travel expenses to treatment centers, and hospitalization for county children with birth defects.

The Mothers March is one of the phases of the annual MOD drive. A "bucket brigade" was staged Saturday at downtown and highway intersections, and various other events are being planned in communities to benefit the MOD drive.

Residents who wish to contribute to the drive and who are not at home during the Mothers March may mail their contributions to Mrs. Stanislaw at 1104 North Jackson, Cameron.

DISPATCHERS SCHOOL

A school for law enforcement radio dispatchers was held Friday afternoon at City Hall. The class was taught by Department of Public Safety communications officers, Joe Trowbridge of Bryan and O. B. Walker of Waco.

Heavy Runs .. Seen At Local Cattle Market

The word these days is "we need a good rain," as January goes into its last week just as dry, or dryer than December.

The only moisture recorded by the official City Water Dept. rain gauge this month was a trace on Jan. 12 Following on November's .27 of an inch and December's .77, effects of the year-end drouth are being felt over a wide area of the state.

The local cattle market is reflecting pasture conditions as stockmen face a hard winter as far as feeding is concerned. Receipts at the Cameron Livestock Auction during January have been up compared to last year.

For example, cattle and calves receipts totaled 950 on January 14 and 700 last Thursday. This compares to 450 for about the same time last year, and 328 in 1969.

Surprisingly enough, 1970 wasn't as dry as it seemed. Total rainfall measured for the year was 34.22, which is about an inch above average. Rain in 1969 totaled 35.39 inches, and 1968 was wet -- 49.97 inches fell that year.

Milam County Agent J. D. Moore said the most critical aspect of the current drouth is the effect it has on crop residue which was plowed under in the fall.

Moisture is needed to break down and decompose the residue, "or those farmers are going to have a bad time when they plow," Moore said.

Don't Block Traffic, Police Warn Walkers

Cameron Police Chief Felipe Martinez issued a warning this week that people walking in traffic lanes on streets and roadways will be charged with obstructing traffic.

Where there is no sidewalk pedestrians should walk single file at the side of the street, the Chief said.

New Building Sparks YHS Home Ec Course

The Homemaking Department at Yoe High School has moved from a crowded corner of the school gymnasium to spacious, paneled quarters in a steel construction building adjoining the Francis Cox Band Hall.

The 127'x40' building is in keeping with the expanded Home Ec program that has grown from about 75 students in 1966 to almost 300 enrolled this semester.

D. R. Dodson, Superintendent of Cameron Schools, said the building was constructed at a cost of $8.50 per square foot including furnishings and fixtures. "We are very proud of the new facility," Dodson said, "particularly the excellent lighting and efficient layout."

The building is divided into three separate rooms, all paneled in a light wood with pebble pattern tile floors.

At the east entrance is a 40'x50' foods section. Six compact kitchens equipped with modern stoves, sink and work area line the walls. Tables in the center are for food service and class work.

A partially enclosed teachers station is at one end of the kitchen and a laundry and reference alcove is at the other end.

A home-like atmosphere is apparent in the center room where classes in Family Relations are held. Round tables for discussion groups, couches and chairs add an informal note.

At the west end of the new building is a large, 40'x50' sewing room. Specially designed table units that will house sewing machine, storage and cutting space are on order with half of the tables due for delivery this week.

Folding doors between the center class room and sewing room open the area to banquet size that can accomodate 300 for dinners and meetings.

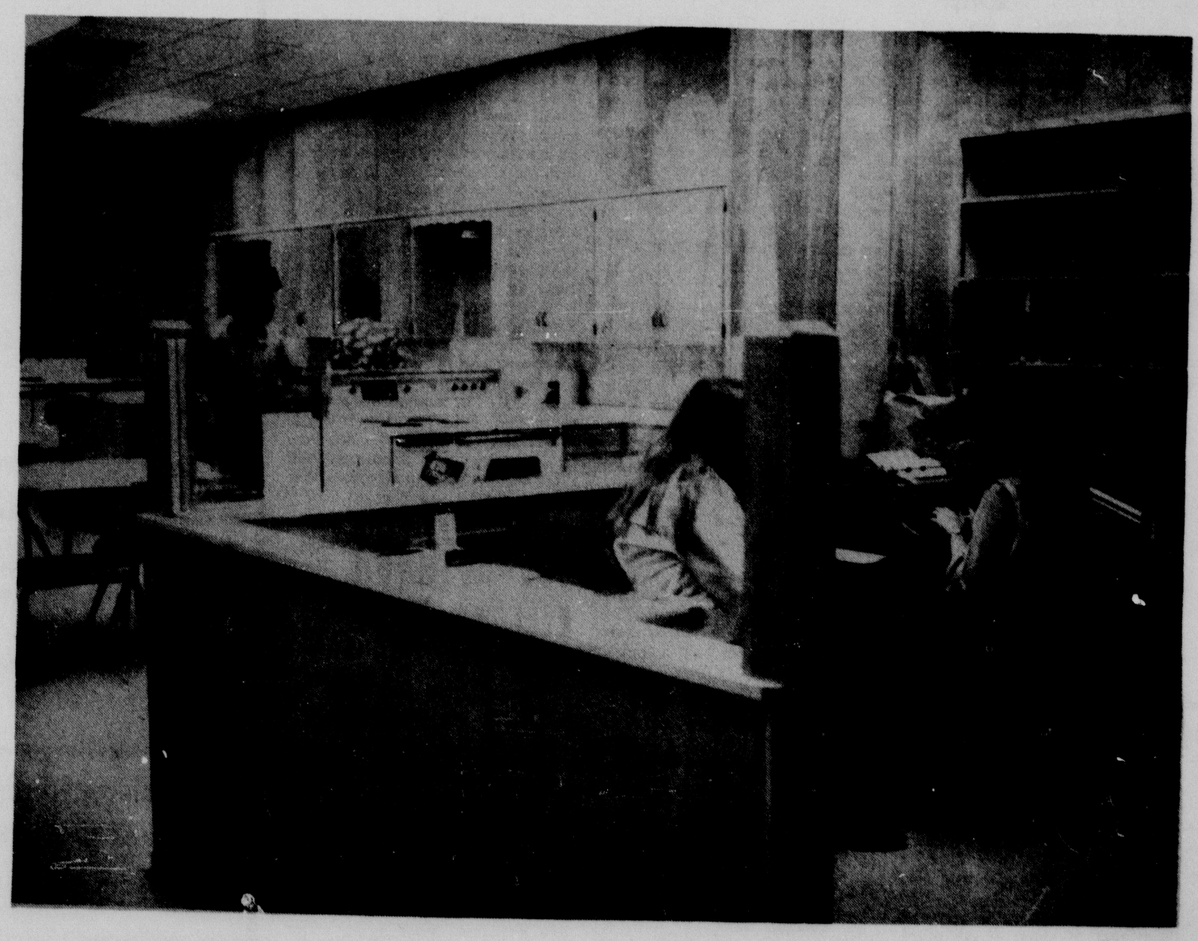
Mrs. Bob Foster, homemaking teacher, said instruction in foods and nutrition, child care and development, family relations, clothing, furniture refinishing and personality development are included in the expanded Home Economics program.

"We had only 76 students in homemaking in 1966," Mrs. Foster said, "but the addition of the co-ed family relations class and better facilities have made it a more attractive program."

All of the homemaking classes are electives, but most of the Yoe High girls take one year of Home Ec. The present Family Relations class has an enrollment of 50. The course is designed for juniors and seniors and covers marriage and family living the first semester and consumer education the second semester.

The building will be used year-round, Mrs. Foster said. Classes are scheduled for adult education through the summer months.

Homemaking teachers are Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Willie J. Henderson, Mrs. Davida Applebaum and Mrs. Alice Hughes.



TEACHERS STATION - in the new Home Ec building is open to the paneled kitchen area.

Civic Truth And Psychology...

Preliminary census figures released this week to your Cameron Herald show county population down 12 percent, Cameron down 3.3, Thorndale up 2.9 and Rockdale up 4.1.

Cameron's figures would have increased, but for several factors:

--According to school officials, Negro scholastics decreased as much as 150 in recent years, pointing to a departure of numerous families in the CISD area, some from within the Cameron city limits.

--Housing was limited during the decade of the '60s, a limitation which Cameron will overcome this decade by several means.

--Dozens of families live within a two-mile radius of Cameron, working and going to school here, who are outside the city limits, even those newly established to the northwest. Housing was more available outside the city limits or the location more inviting with construction of water systems.

It seems most rural counties have seen the bottom of the population trough. It would seem the alert is generally sounded that light industry and grazing-agri-business are the means to stronger agriculture and growing Central Texas small cities.

Cameron's loss was negligible, but perhaps a psychological blow. But the truth is about 6,000 people live within a few minutes of the city limits if not within them.

Milam communities are stabilizing and will grow, depending on the energy and foresight of her people. Without enormous civic effort in the '60's, Cameron would have dropped to a weakened community status.

Texas-Size System...

The Southwest Milam Water Supply Corp. is one of the biggest in Central Texas and one of the biggest in the state.

The approximate $800,000 project will raise two towers and install another at ground level while laying 180 miles of water line to more than 500 household and agri-business customers.

That's a Texas-size project and one which again will stabilize population, a final need on the upswing of population and development in Milam Area's '70s.

State Bar Sponsors Bill For New 'Family Code'

AUSTIN

A law designed to deal more effectively with the problems that beset children and their parents in a troubled time will be offered in the upcoming session of the legislature.

The State Bar of Texas is sponsoring the bill which, if passed, will complete the enactment of a new modern Family Code for Texas.

Specifically, the proffered legislation deals with the support, custody, and visitation of children whose parents are divorced, with adoption, juvenile delinquency and areas of the law related to these.

The provisions dealing with support, custody, and visitation, are aimed at eliminating the flaws and gaps in present laws, much of which dates back to Victorian times.

As lawyers and judges know, when marriages break up, the children are often not only the spoils but the weapons in the battle between the spouses. Under present law these private "wars" can go on almost interminably and sometimes simultaneously in several courts. The result has often compounded both bitterness and expense.

The new provisions streamline the procedures for handling such cases.

The new statutes would make clear that only one court could hear any such case and which court that is. The purpose is to save the parties money, time and inconvenience and reduce the likelihood of some of the more undesirable incidents such as "child snatching."

ADOPTION, DELINQUENTS

The new adoption provisions, while similar to the present ones, are designed to give greater protection to the children, their natural parents, and adoptive parents. A new statute providing for termination of parental rights and relinquishment of parental rights is designed to assure that natural parents will not unfairly or inadvertently lose their children.

Children and the adoptive parents will be better protected in that once a child is legally adopted the possibility that the new parent-child relationship can be upset by former parents will be reduced almost to zero.

Another large section of the bill concerns handling of delinquent children and children in need of supervision.

Its purpose is not only to bring Texas law in line with new United States Supreme Court requirements, but to assure protection not only to the lawless or troublesome child but to the society with which he is at odds.

ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN

Also proposed is a statute which would for the first time require that Texas fathers support their illegitimate children.

Texas is one of only three states without a paternity statute and one of the few governments in the western world without one. Under present Texas law the mother is responsible for the support of the illegiitmate child (and often the tax payer) but not the father.

Built into the new proposal is an elaborate system of safeguards to assure against use of the law for extortion or blackmail. A mother of an illegitimate child could not, for example, choose a wealthy, prominent man at random and bring suit against him in hopes of getting a large sum as "hush money".

If the woman refuses to submit to blood tests for herself and the child, the suit will be dismissed in a secret pre-trial hearing.

The drafting of an updated Family Code for Texas has been in progress for some five years. The work has been carried on by the Family Law Section of the State Bar in consultation with members of the faculties of most of the law schools in Texas. Orba Lee Maline, prominent El Paso attorney, is chairman of the Bar's Family Law Section.

Texans Head List At UT

AUSTIN

Texas residents account for 34,211 of the 39,089 total fall enrollment at The University of Texas.

Only eight of the 254 Texas counties failed to be represented. Counties with the largest representation are Travis, Harris, Dallas, Bexar and Tarrant, in that order.

Though the University remains decidedly Texan, students also are enrolled from every other state and from 76 foreign countries.

New State Highway Map Is Available For Texans

AUSTIN

How do you make something good even better? In the case of the new 1971 Official State Highway Map released by the Texas Highway Department it was easy.

This year's map includes the addition of three lakes, the designation of six new comfort stations on non-Interstate routes, a new U.S. highway number designation from near Moore all the way to Mexico, and a new cover featuring a picture of the wonders of Padre Island National Seashore.

The map shows some 2,320 miles of Interstate Highways open to traffic in Texas. When the national Interstate system is complete, Texas will have 3,176 miles of IH routes.

The map also reflects the realignment and improvement of many sections of other types of highway facilities in the state-maintained system.

Altogether, the Texas Highway Department has provided approximately 1,100 safety rest areas, roadside parks and scenic turnouts for the safety and convenience of highway users in Texas.

Other features of the map include listings of Highway Department district offices, Department of Public Safety Offices and State parks. A handy conversion table turns kilometers to miles and liters to gallons.

The Official State Highway Map is one of the most popular of more than 7.3 million pieces of travel - oriented literature distributed each year by the Texas Highway Department.

Copies of the map are available at Highway Department Tourist Bureaus and at Department district offices.

The map also may be ordered directly by sending name, address and ZIP code to Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78703 correctly if you are spelling it as shown and are referring to our governmental building in Washington.

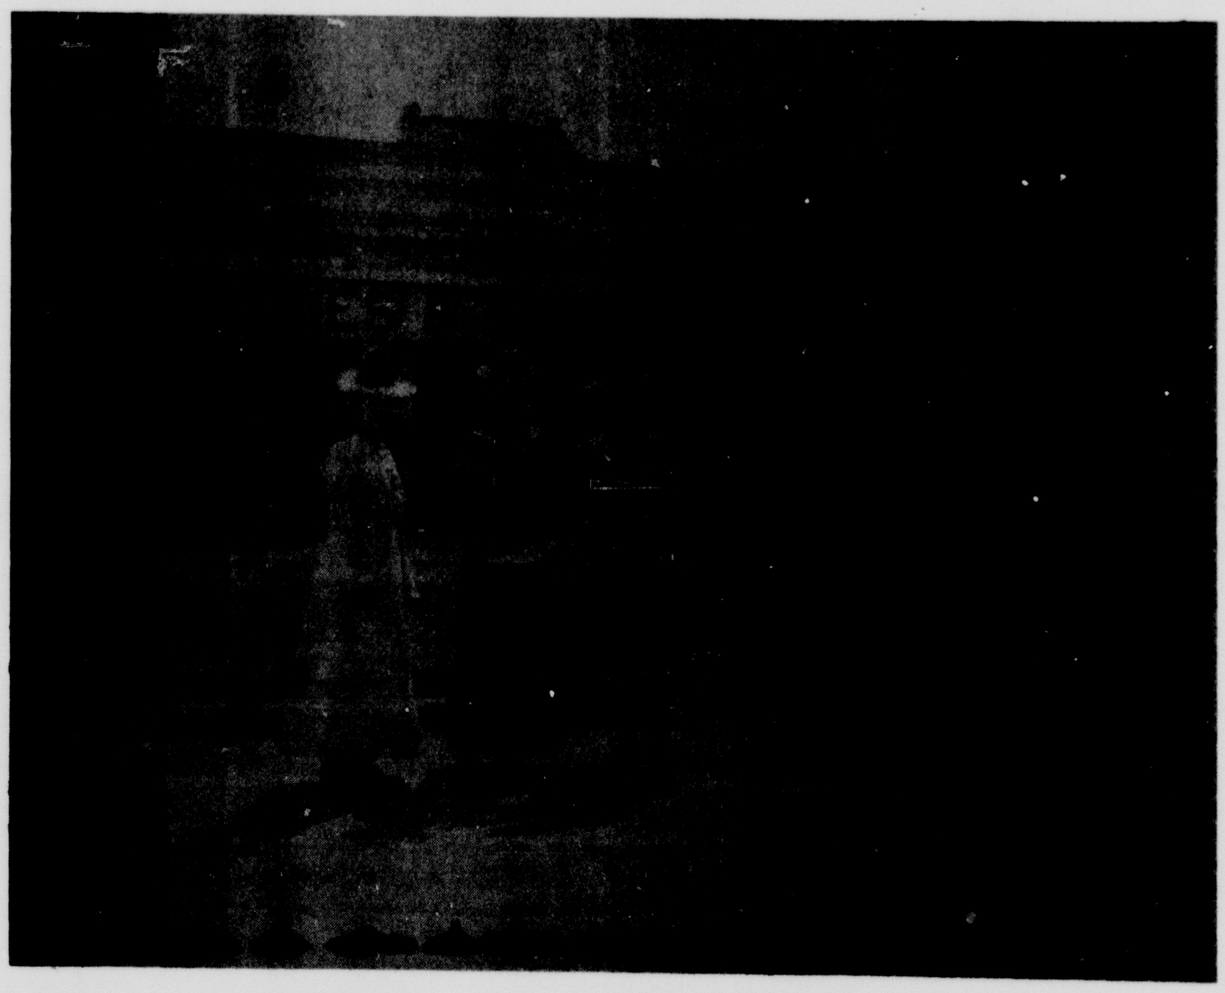
MILAM AREA PARADE OF SPORTS



For this week we're going to have a change of pace from sports. Parade of Sports thinks this picture is too good to pass up, and who knows, the "sports" of yesteryear may have cast a bright eye at these three young ladies. They are evidently shopping in downtown Cameron of years ago. Note the "little red wagons" stacked in the doorway at right. They had bigger wheels those days. And the Studebaker (wago, that is) across the street. Oh yes, does anyone recognize these ladies, or know about when this picture was taken?

'Visit To Thailand' Is Delphian Program

The Cameron Delphian Club met Tuesday, January 19, in the home of Mrs. Ray Jensen with Miss Mildred Thornton as cohostess. The program was "A Visit to Thailand" presented by Mrs. John Henderson, Sr. and her daughter, Mrs. Parker Hallberg.

Mrs. A. W. McCullin, president, greeted the group and after the opening prayer by Mrs. W. C. Freeman, Mrs. Jensen introduced the following guests: Miss Katie Nisbett, Mrs. O. G. Tumlinson, Mrs. Alvin Mullinax, Mrs. Roy Law, Mrs. B. L. Franke, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Hallberg.

Mrs. Leland Green Sr., leader for the program on International Affairs, introduced Mrs. Hallberg and Mrs. Henderson.

Mrs. Henderson described Thailand as "The smiling country and land of the free." She showed pictures of the king and queen, and of the Nixon visit to Thailand which occurred during their visit. She said the Thai people are "Warm, gentle and friendly and respect and honor the elderly people."

She said four blessings of Thailand are: May you live to an old age; May you always look youthful; May you have much happiness; and May you have good health.

Mrs. Hallberg told about her husband's work in the U. S. Information Service, her work as a teacher, about Thailand's government and about the schools.

She said the children begin school at age three, all wear uniforms and that there are seven years of compulsory schooling. "The Thai people are very artistic," Mrs. Hallberg said, adding that their art is mostly expressed in handicrafts.

Many interesting objects were on display - carvings of wood, teakwood covered with gold lear and some decorated with colorful glass, antique chinese porcelain, lacquerware, silver, gold and brass.

During the brief business session, announcements were made, correspondence read, and department chairmen were reminded that reports are due by February 15.

The hostesses, assisted by Nancy Jensen, served sandwiches, cake, strawberries, coffee and tea to twelve members and eight guests.

Martin Mueck of Cameron has made the Blinn College honor roll for the fall semester of 1970.

His average for the semester was 3.25.

According to Henry J. Boehm, Academic Dean, ten percent of the student body made the honor roll. One percent had an all A average. A 3.25 average is required to make the honor roll.

TJC CONSTRUCTION

Architects for two proposed buildings on the Temple Junior College campus are moving ahead with drawings in order to ask for early bids on construction.

Each of the buildings will cost about $575,000, financed through a $1.25 million bond issue. Some of the bond funds will be used to air condition existing buildings.

The new fine arts building will be situated between the Watson Technical Center and the Newton Science Building.

The new health and physical education building will be situated on the east campus across Highway 190-36 from the main campus. A pedestrian overpass and controlled traffic intersection will be built to facilitate intercampus movement.

Completion of both buildings is expected by March 1, 1972.

Austin Symphony Sets Third Concert Tv

Maurice Peress, the vigorous music director of the Austin Symphony Orchestra, will conduct a program of Wagner, Bloch and Tchaikovsky in the orchestra's third subscription concert on Jan. 28.

Widely-acclaimed cellist and UT professor George Neikrug will be the featured artist. Issac Stern, eminent American cellist, said that Neikrug is "a great artist -- all who hear him recognize the exhilaration of experiencing true musical creativity." Neikrug will play Tchaikovsky's "Variations on a Rococo Theme" for cello and orchestra and Bloch's "Schelomo," a Hebrew Rhapsody for cello and orchestra.

Austin On Ballet Tour

The American Ballet Theatre, fresh from an opening in New York that left critics with few superlatives unused, will be in Austin Feb. 3 for an 8 p.m. performance at Municipal Auditorium.

A spokesman for the company said that the current United States tour will be their last limited engagement tour.

The American Ballet Theatre corps, held in high esteem with directors Lucia Chase and Oliver Smith and such stars as Erik Bruhn, Ted Kivitt, Carla Fracci and Ivan Nagy, added the brilliance of Natalia Makarova, star ballerina of the Leningrad Kirov Ballet, who defected to the United States last September and joined the American Ballet group.

Turkey Vulture Is Nature's Answer To Garbage Disposal

Despite a multitude of traits which man might find loathsome in the turkey vulture, biologists tell us this scavenger earns, if not our respect, at least our tolerance.

As unappealing as the vulture may seem, he is preferable from a health point of view to the mess on which he feeds.

The ecosystem, it seems, is blind to what we might consider the vulture's faults. Whatever works is fine, and the vulture performs his function of cleaning up nature's leavings with both efficiency and gusto.

His digestive system is geared to destroy, and therefore keep from spreading, bacteria which would make other creatures deathly ill, and it has been suggested the vulture might have within its digestive system a secret serum that could cure many of the infectious maladies of man.

Turkey vultures are classic examples of natural adaptation. Their naked heads are free of feathers so the purifying rays of the sun can kill bacteria clinging there.

"Quick clay," a substance that has a high water content and not enough salt to bind the soil together, is responsible for mudslides that can reach avalanche proportions. One in Sweden in 1950 displaced 106 million cubic feet of soil and dumped much of the town of Surte into the Gota River.

Careful Meat Selection Helps Keep Nutritious Meals Within Budget

Nourishing dinners needn't be a budget burden when menu items are carefully selected. Boneless smoked pork shoulder, for example, is a nutritional bargain, contributing generously to the family's protein requirement. In addition, it supplies iron and the important B vitamins: thiamin, riboflavin and niacin.

According to Reba Staggs, National Live Stock and Meat Board home economist, pork is the top food contributor of thiamin, often called the "pep" vitamin as it is associated with a healthy nervous system.

Smoked Pork Shoulder

2 to 4-pound boneless smoked pork shoulder
Water
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
6 whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon

Cover the meat with water. Add onion, cloves and cinnamon to meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ to 1¾ hours. Remove meat from cooking liquid and slice. Serve with Spiced Fruit Sauce. 6 to 12 servings.

Spiced Fruit Sauce

1 can (17 ounces) fruit cocktail
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup frozen concentrated orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Drain fruit cocktail and reserve both fruit and juice. Combine cornstarch, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, orange juice and cocktail juice. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook over low heat 5 minutes. Stir in fruit and lemon juice. Yield: 2 cups.

Ben Franklin Variety Store has 2,400 reasons why its prices are so competitive on good merchandise among variety stores in the Milam area.

Ben Franklin is a locally owned variety store, co-owned by manager Porter Young and N. L. Caperton, and joins in the central purchasing advantage which keeps Ben Franklin prices in Cameron so reasonable and merchandise at high quality.

Brand names are found throughout Cameron Ben Franklin, under the big, red "BEN FRANKLIN" sign above the entrance of the store at 107 West Main, downtown Cameron.

Brands like Timex, General Electric, Little Majesty, Silex, Waring and numerous others are seen throughout departments wuch as household, gift, sometic, lingerie and infant wear, sewing material and notions, window shade and drapery hardware.

Ben Franklin's toy department has a wide variety throughout the year, not just at Christmas, which, of course, is a special time for wider display of well-known brands of toys and children's games and interests.

It requires a big staff of full and part-time people to keep Cameron's Ben Franklin going to serve you.

Assisting Young are: Miss Hazel Williams, Mrs. L. J. Matula, Jr., Miss Francis Zotz, Mrs. I. J. Williams, Miss Bridget Mortimer and Eugene Mitchan, Jr.

So Remember Ben Franklin any time personal and household needs arise. Porter Young and staff await the opportunity to serve.

Cameron Lumber Co. Boasts Amazing Variety

Cameron Lumber Co. sells standard lumber and roofing materials. That's expected.

What is unexpected is the amazing variety of 1,000 paint colors available at Cameron Lumber, operated by Charles Chandler, 12 years an experienced decorator, builder and remodeler.

How does Cameron Lumber assure 1,000 colors? It's with Colony paints' instant color, liquid powder paint system, guaranteed for color accuracy.

If 1,000 paints aren't enough, how about pre-finished paneling and moldings in a variety of finishes and tones in a variety of prices?

Assisting Chandler is Gene Marak, himself a veteran of eight years with the firm.

Cameron Lumber Co. traces its beginnings to Jeter Lumber Co. in 1890, which successively became Woodson Lumber, Wiese Lumber and now Cameron Lumber Co., all in the same location.

Its location across from City Hall is an advantage that Chandler enjoys. He manages a business that is part of a career in paint and decorating sales, wholesale and retail, in Austin and Cameron.

Food Choice Linked To Personality

NEW YORK

If you plan on ordering fish for dinner tonight, chances are that you are more reserved than your meat-eating companion.

In the current Coronet magazine article "Your Eating Habits Give You Away," Jean E. Laird interviewed doctors who have made it a point to determine people's personalities by what they eat.

The doctors' observations suggest that:

Men who are extra fond of starchy foods such as bread and potatoes tend to be adverse to solving problems or making judgments, and tend to be on the complacent side.

Big meat-eaters possess such dominat qualities and traits as enthusiasm, sociability and a zest for action which makes them good leaders, salesmen, army officers and politicians.

People with a lively sense of humor and a fondness for jokes tend to gravitate more to the dessert portion of the meal.

The article also suggests that if you have a secret desire to retreat to childhood, you may give this away by having milk and ice cream with your meals. People who tend to eat these foods generally suffer from feelings of insecurity.

On the other hand, if you have no apparent food hang-ups, the article points out that you probably have a mature outlook, balanced personality and a logical mind.

TEXAS VEGETABLES

The value of commercial vegetables (fresh marketing and processing) produced in Texas during 1970 totaled $141,422,000 reports the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, up 16 percent from 1969.

Leading crops in value of production were onions, carrots, potatoes, cabbage and watermelons. Nationally, Texas ranked third in harvested acreage, production and value of fresh market vegetables behind California

Food Suppliment

Cameron Athletes Benefit From Belton-Based Firm

Cameron athletes in both the high school and junior high program are benefiting from the research and professional knowledge of a Belton pharmacist and the head coach at Belton High School.

The two men are the developers of Power Pak, a food supplement designed to meet the specific food value requirements of high school athletes. It was introduced in the Cameron schools this year.

The formula for Power Pak was devised by Jack Meredith, head coach and athletic director of the Belton Public Schools and Richard Inman, Belton pharmacist and former athletic star at Belton High School and the University of Oklahoma.

From a feature in the Belton Journal:

"Meredith has been working on this project "for 10 or 12 years, and by trial and error, eliminated many combinations." Meredith said "when I found that Richard Inman was interested in the same program, we combined my notes with his professional knowledge, and we came up with a program of food supplements that we think will meet the specific needs of a teen-age athlete."

"The special combination of food supplements includes all necessary vitamins, protein, and minerals required in the daily diet. "These kids simply don't eat what they should, mostly because they prefer malts, soft drinks, various kinds of 'burgers and rich foods. Our plan is to give the supplement in capsule form. This controls their weight, keeps up their speed, and encourages general good physical development."

"The combination in Power Pak was used in the local athletic program, with an experimental and a control group. The results showed a consistent weight gain and general development, plus a marked resistance to colds, in the experimental group. The results were so good, in fact, that the entire test was run again.

"The program was checked by local medical conferences, to assure that there could be no harmful effects. It was then submitted to the Federal Food and Drug Administration. It was on the recommendation -- and high commendation -- of the FDA, that the combination of food supplements was patented.

MARKET DEVELOPED

"We didn't give a thought to a commercial interest in this thing. I was trying to help and to protect 'my boys'," Meredith said. "But we put together enough of the material to sell to surrounding schools to pay for the Power Pak for the Belton athletes.

" "Then, Holt Sporting Goods became interested in the project, and offered to sell it for us," Meredith said. "They have placed it in 37 states, and have franchises for all of the United States," he said.

"The formula is prepared and packed according to specifications by a wholesale pharmaceutical company. Meredith said that it is on equal basis with a nationally known product, which sells for $45 a unit, and Power Pak sells for $10.95 a unit.

"The Belton-based food supplement product is expected to sell 5,000 to 10,000 units in the coming spring season, based on a survey of the distributing company, showing the need of this kind of product. It is easy to take, no trouble, no taste.

"The creators of the formula have retained a right to distribute the same material under the name "Pro Pak." But, "neither of us has any intentions of making a fortune off of this, or to retire and pack vitamin capsules. It was designed to fill a need of 'my boys'," the coach reitirated.

"Meredith has about 2,500 boys scattered around the world, that I have coached in my 20 years in the business, and you become very close to these boys when you coach them day after day.

So much so, in fact, that this product has taken much of his spare time for years. Now, it is an accomplished fact. It is a good product, it takes nobody's time in packing and selling, but is meeting a definite need.

The first time the exterior of the Washington Monument was cleaned in 1934, it cost $100,000. In 1964, the job cost $125,000. The interior of the monument is swept each day, and workmen remove an average of two 20-gallon cans of litter, the National Geographic Society says.

FARM BUREAU WEEK is officially proclaimed by County Judge O. B. Harden, left, as he gives proclamation to H. M. Yager, Milam County FB membership chairman. Gov. Preston Smith has also designated Jan. 25-30 as Farm Bureau Week in Texas.

Milam County Members Mark Farm Bureau Week

The Week of January 25-30 has been designated "Farm Bureau Week" in Milam County by County Judge O. B. Harden.

Milam County ended its 1970 year with 1,328 members and Texas Farm Bureau had a total of 121,158 members.

Governor Preston Smith has proclaimed the same period as "Farm Bureau Week" in Texas.

Edwin Lehmann of Buckholts is president of the local county Farm Bureau. Membership chairman is H. M. Yager of Cameron.

The county president said farmers and ranchers need an organization more than ever before.

"We producers need to be organized for more effectiveness in marketing, agricultural public relations, tax problems, as well as other matters affecting our net incomes, "Lehmann said.

The text of the proclamation issued by Judge O. B. Harden reads:

"Agriculture is vital to the economy of Milam County, our State and Nation. A large percentage of our citizens are dependent directly or indirectly upon agriculture for their livelihood. All of our people benefit from the productive efficiency of modern agriculture.

"Farmers and ranchers have learned to promote their industry through organization. Four out of five agricultural producers in this Nation belonging to a general farm organization are members of Farm Bureau.

"Farm Bureau is an independent, non-partisan, non-governmental voluntary organization of families united for the purpose of analyzing their problems and formulating solutions to those problems.

"Therefore, I, O. B. Harden, County Judge of Milam County, do hereby designate January 25-30 as Farm Bureau Week in Milam County, and urge our citizens to give due recognition to this observance honoring the Milam County Farm Bureau.

"In official recognition thereof, I hereby affix my signature this 20th, day of January, 1971. O. B. Harden, Milam County Judge."

Sharp, Tracy, Friendship News

By Mrs. Leroy Guillote

With so much sorrow and heartache in our area, it just doesn't seem there can be any news at all, but things must go on regardless.

I could be writing exciting news! When Charles left Houston for Pensacola, I wrote of the sailor's mother crying. Well, she would have cried more if she had known her son boarded the plane which then was hijacked to Cuba. Both planes were heading for Miami, and five minutes difference left Charles out of going to Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hodge were guests of honor in their home in Friendship on their 50th wedding anniversary, with friends as hosts.

Horses were replaced by automobiles in the White House stables in 1909 when President William Howard Taft bought a White steamer, a Baker electric, and two Pierce Arrows, according to the third edition of The Living White House, produced by the National Geographic Society.

Harry flew in from Puerto Rico a week after Charles left. Wednesday afternoon, he showed slides and gave a talk as the program for the Tracy-Duncan Home Demonstration Club which met in Rockdale with Mrs. Cecil Plate as hostess.

Wednesday night, the Tracy Methodist Church members met with Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Drummonds, Jr. for a bible study and coffee honoring Harry Lee.

Miss Elaine Bales of Temple and Michael Ray Ocher of Rosebud were married Saturday at at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Temple. Mrs. Ocher is the granddaughter of Mr. J. W. Pope and Mr. Jim Bales, both of Friendship.

Mrs. Ruth Caffey is back home after spending a while in Louisiana greeting her newest grandchild, adopted by Maj. Clement Caffey and wife.

Tim Hanke, senior student of Texas A&M has been designated as an honor student, with an average of 3.49.16 compiled. The highest grade a student could make is 4. He belongs to the Gamma Sigma Delta. Hanke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hanke of Buckholts and the husband of the former Miss Jan Mundine of Lexington. He is majoring in Agriculture and is planning a career as a Vocational Agriculture teacher.

LOVING MEMORIES

Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved as well and true,
Bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore.
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

THE THROAT: A SORE POINT

NEW YORK (ED)—Throughout history, the throat has been a sore point. As far back as the ancient Orientals, men sought relief from sore throat pain—often swallowing silly cures in the process. Ancient Orientals bought potions from itinerant "healers" to cure their sore throats. If these didn't work, they asked the snake swallower to charm away their sickness.

One of the earliest supposed sore-throat cures began in the Middle Ages. Sufferers dunked their feet in a tub of hot water, applied a mustard plaster, bundled up in warm clothes and hoped for the best. In those times it was believed illness was caused by little demons, who entered the body and proceeded to torture the sick person.

better. At the thought of this cure, most patients made a speedy recovery.

It wasn't until the late 19th century that a more scientific approach to sore throats was taken. Johann Czermak, a Bohemian physiologist, made significant studies of larynx diseases with his laryngoscope. But, still no cure was found for the sore throat that often came with the common cold.

A more drastic cure for the sore throat was ordered by later doctors. In the early 1800's doctors called for leeches to bleed the patient until he felt

As we enter the "cold" season (from November to April), chances are good that some of us will suffer from this winter misery. But with the newest aids, we won't suffer long.

Life Jacket Vital To Winter Water Safety

Frigid weather makes the wearing of life jackets doubly important for water safety.

This is true because of the added shock of cold water to a person's body makes him much more vulnerable when he accidentally falls into a lake or river, according to George Cook, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Water Safety Services director.

An unexpected fall into icy water may be followed by progressive muscular weakness. Heavy winter clothing also can contribute to the victim's demise if he isn't wearing an approved lifesaving device.

A jacket of this type can give a person the buoyancy he needs until he can swim to safety or be rescued.

Two Texas Fish Kills Listed Among 'Worst'

Two fish kills in Texas waters during 1969 have been listed by the Federal Water Quality Administration as being among the 12 worst in the nation that year.

In a publication reviewing national fish kill statistics, the agency listed the Arroyo Colorado kill near Brownsville and the San Antonio River kill in the top 12.

The booklet said poisons were blamed for the Arroyo Colorado incident which killed 5,000,000 fish, and chemicals were responsible for the kill in San Antonio in which an estimated 100,000 fish died.
